

Hugh Johnson Wields Toothpick Instead of Big Stick in Cracking Down

WASHINGTON—Enforcement is still the overshadowing problem of the NRA.

At General Hugh Johnson's Code Authorities Congress last winter the predominant note was the general outcry against non-compliance, the failure of authorities to do anything about it.

In his desperate efforts to still this chorus of criticism Johnson has thrice overhauled the Blue Eagle's enforcement machinery. But to no avail.

Complaints are as numerous and widespread today as they were last February.

When NRA rulers are not denying the existence of these charges, they have an elaborate variety of explanations. But the record of the Harriman-Hosley Mills case, lately in the headlines, affords ample evidence that the real trouble is lack of decisiveness. There is a lot of talk about "cracking down," but no action.

Toothpick waving and not big stick clubbing is the rule.

The Harriman company, which runs the little town of Harriman, Tenn., like a feudal barony, was recently accused by the National Labor Board of violating the collective bargaining provisions of the NRA.

The specific charges were interference with attempts at unionization, plus discrimination against union workers. Some 300 of the latter lost their jobs because of union membership.

After months of mysterious dallying, Johnson finally "jerked" the company's Blue Eagle. It set up a great howl, and shut down its plant, throwing 650 employees out of work.

In the recriminations that followed the amazing fact came to light that Johnson far from being hard-boiled or drastic had been almost tender in his dealings with the company.

He had offered to return its "bird" if it would agree to reinstate only 50 of the 300 discharged strikers. The other 250 Johnson was willing to sacrifice in order to avoid a fight.

It was small wonder therefore that, after this pussyfooting, when Attorney General Cummings announced he would not prosecute, the die-hard mill operators sat back and thumbed their noses.

Ruffling the Blue Eagle's feathers had proved about as dangerous as whistling to a canary.

Bad Hombre

Slender Mrs. Jim Landis believes in keeping family secrets.

Following the appointment of her serious-minded husband to the new Securities Exchange Commission, she was visited by a staff writer of a nationally known magazine. He explained that he was seeking "personality" material.

"You know, Mrs. Landis," he said, "up in Wall Street they speak of your husband in fear and trembling."

"Really?"

"Yes, indeed, he is bad medicine to those boys. What is there about him that should frighten them so?"

"Well," was the smiling reply, "if that is the way they think of Jim up there I certainly do not intend saying anything that would change their minds."

"Disapproved - Farley"

Not long ago Secretary of Interior Ickes went over to the White House and presented to Roosevelt the name of John W. Finch as director of the Bureau of Mines.

Dr. Finch had a notable record. He had done geological work in China, Siam, India, Africa, Turkey, once was mining adviser to the Governor of Yunnan. He served as State Geologist of Colorado, is dean of the University of Idaho School of Mines, also Director of the Idaho State Bureau of Mining.

The President looked over Finch's record, told Ickes, "If you want him."

So Ickes gave the word that Finch was to be sworn in. The ceremony was scheduled for last week. Everything was set—until at the last moment, the Interior

LOGAN, July 11—Harley Stewart, confessed slayer of his son, Carl, today faced sentence to the Ohio penitentiary on a manslaughter charge after the jury at his second trial reached the compromise verdict after deliberating 90 minutes.

Stewart had been accused of second degree murder.

The son was shot and killed when the two quarreled after the father shot Carl's dog. Stewart had pleaded self defense.

WAS SECOND TRIAL The jury at the man's first trial was unable to agree and was dismissed, necessitating the second court hearing. The slaying occurred May 21.

Sentence, one to 20 years, was expected to be pronounced after a motion for a new trial is heard.

Driver Facing Death Charge

A charge of manslaughter was filed by Justice W. W. DeWeese court at Washington C. H. Tuesday against Harry Boggs, of 1213 Fairwood-ave, Columbus, driver of the car which struck and killed Herman Smith, New Holland farmer, last Friday.

The charge was filed by Mrs. Estella Smith, the deceased man's widow and a warrant for Boggs' arrest was issued at once.

WORKING ON CAR Smith was working on his auto near the Bogus crossing, four miles east of New Holland, when he was struck. Boggs claimed that he stepped out into the path of his car.

Mrs. Smith and five children survive the victim of the accident. Boggs was in New Holland, Monday, saying he came down to attend the funeral services which had been held on Sunday.

CHICAGO, July 11—Facing the prospect of the smallest wheat crop in 41 years, prices for futures on the Board of Trade today soared as much as five cents a bushel or the limit of fluctuation allowed for one day.

Broad buying coupled with the sensational bullish government reports sent Sept. wheat to 93 5/8 and December wheat to 94 7/8. The general wheat list was 4 to 5 cents up. Other grains were sharply advanced, prices being from 1 1/8 to as much as 3 1/2 cents higher for corn.

'Sex' Change For Youths Turned Down By Parents

ST. CLAIRSVILLE, July 11—Parents of Glen and John Deitrich, 16 and 17-year-old brothers, who are expected to die within a year because of a strange paralysis which strikes only male members of the family, today refused to allow their sons to become subjects of "sex change" experiments.

The suggestion had been made that the brothers be sterilized and then be inoculated with a serum that would develop female characteristics in the boys and perhaps prolong their lives.

TOOK FATHER

Glen and John, their bodies twisted into contorted shapes, are victims of a mysterious hereditary spinal paralysis that has claimed the lives of seven other members of the Deitrich family in the past three generations.

Because the disease strikes only male members of the family, the "sex change" experiments were suggested. Victims of the malady, in the past, always have died at the age of 18 years.

Many doctors have offered to treat the boys but a clinic of 50 famous surgeons once was unable to determine the cause of the disease nor check it.

AGAINST IDEAS

I appreciate the suggestions and help of the medical profession regarding my children," said Mrs. Deitrich, "but now they are about through with their suffering and I will let God handle the matter and not doctors who couldn't help them in their youth. Particularly am I against sex-change ideas."

Underwood Defends Ballot On Economy Bill; Lauds F D R

Congressman, Running For Seventh Term, Appears At Lancaster With Lantz and Wright; McSweeney Speaks, Too.

Three candidates for the Democratic nomination for congressman from the 11th district, which includes Pickaway-co, officially opened their campaigns at a Democratic mass meeting in Lancaster Monday evening.

Congressman Mel G. Underwood of New Lexington, seeking a seventh term extolled the humanitarian policies of President Roosevelt and defended his "no" vote on the Economy bill, while Dr. James M. Lantz and Thomas Wright both of Lancaster, called for a better representation of agricultural interests at Washington.

3 NOT PRESENT

Three other candidates for the job, John F. Mader, this city, Louis M. Day of Chillicothe, and H. B. Welch of Rockbridge, Hocking-co, were not present.

Said Congressman Underwood concerning his "no" vote on the Economy bill:

"I disagreed with the Administration on one vote and the action of the Congress at a later date proved beyond a question of doubt that my vote was right. This vote was on the Economy bill. While I favored, and have always voted for, drastic economies and introduced a bill to cut my own salary, with others, at least 25 percent, yet I could not after careful and thoughtful consideration, vote for the drastic and unreasonable cuts to the blind, disabled, and tubercular veterans."

Dr. Lantz preceded Underwood and declared:

"I was born and reared on a hill farm and have done more hard work on that farm than Tom (Wright) ever saw done. I have split more rails than I have ever split and the reason I left that hill farm was because I didn't like it."

WOULD PAY BONUS

Mr. Wright in his talk advocated the printing of paper money to pay the soldier's bonus and the salaries of federal employees.

"Why pay interest on bonds when Congress has the power to print money," said the Fairfield farmer candidate.

John W. McSweeney, director of welfare for Ohio, was also present and praised Governor George White for giving the state an economical administration.

'DEATH BEAM' IS PERFECTED

Inventor Says He Has Ray To Prevent War; Plans Instruction.

NEW YORK, July 11.—Nations surrounded by invisible beams of concentrated energy capable of annihilating airplanes, armies and navies, and providing an impassable barrier against invasion.

This was the picture envisioned today following announcement of a new invention by Nikol Tesla, one of the world's outstanding inventors. Tesla gave a rough outline of his discovery here on the occasion of his 78th birthday, and expressed hope that it would make war impossible. He expects to submit it to the peace conference at Geneva.

Because huge power plants would be required to send out the invisible rays, Tesla said that his invention, a combination of four other inventions, could not be used for offensive warfare.

STUDENT HUNTED IN GIRL'S DEATH

NORMAN, Okla., July 11.—Neal Myers, an El Reno pharmacy student, was the object of a widespread search today by authorities who sought to question him in connection with the mysterious death of Marion Mills, attractive 20-year-old University of Oklahoma coed and daughter of a university professor.

The youth disappeared after discovery of the girl's body in the home of Mrs. Hazel Brown, a fraternity house coed, to whom Myers had introduced the girl as his wife and requested that they be permitted to stay there overnight Monday.

The lack of marks or bruises on the girl's body, fully clothed when found, and failure of an autopsy to disclose the cause of death, baffled authorities.

"It looks like murder," said County Attorney Paul Updegraff, who ordered the autopsy.

JACKSON, Miss., July 11.—Mississippi, dry for 25 years and first of the states to ratify the 18th amendment, today upheld its tradition as a stronghold of prohibition.

Moslem Force Captures Swedish Explorer, Party

PEIPING, July 11.—Dr. Sven Hedin, noted Swedish explorer, and other members of his expedition into Chinese Turkestan, have been captured by the forces of the Moslem General Ma Chung Ying, according to reports reaching here today.

The explorers were captured east of Urumchi and are being carried toward the stronghold of General Ma.

The Hedin party is believed to include, besides the explorer himself, five Swedes, three Mongols, and three Chinese scientists. Harold Kierkegaard, a Danish postal commissioner, also is understood to be a member of the party and presumably was captured.

Dr. Hedin's expedition has been in Turkestan several months, seeking the source of the Gobi desert.

Although the immediate objective of the expedition was the search for Dr. Ambolt, the Hedin party has been engaged for several years in scientific and commercial explorations in central Asia. One of these projects has been the exploration of the ancient "silk route," said to have been the longest caravan road in the world over which silk was freighted in ancient times from China to Rome.

Half Million Damage Reported in Tornado; Tom Mix Circus Hit

MAY NEED MILITIA

'Freak' Rain Storm Centers in Columbus

JACKSONVILLE, Ill., July 11.—A partial check-up early today revealed that more than 100 persons were injured, some seriously, by the tornado which raged through the city last night, causing more than $500,000 damage.

No fatalities were reported, but police, firemen and volunteers dug frantically into wreckage of homes to free persons possibly trapped in the debris.

The state hospital for the insane reported that all buildings had been damaged by the terrific wind before the telephone wires were whipped away by the gale. Early rescuers were unable to make their way to the institution and it was not known if any inmates had suffered injuries.

UPTOWN TORN UP

The storm struck about 10:30 last night, unroofing homes and buildings and uprooting trees. The center of the town was hardest hit, and the public square was a shambles this morning.

All outgoing and incoming telephone wires were swept away.

Workers were handicapped through the night when the city was thrown into darkness by the breaking of power lines. All current was then turned off to prevent the possible outbreak of fire. Water mains burst, cutting off the city's water supply.

Authorities plan to ask Gov. Henry Horner to send state militia from Springfield, it was reported, to guard against possible vandalism.

MIX CIRCUS HIT

Tents of the Sam B. Dill and Tom Mix circus which was playing here, were slashed to ribbons and much of the circus equipment was ruined. The loss was estimated at $50,000.

Streets are filled with debris, and impassable.

Rain and hail accompanied the gale, the hail stones smashing thousands of windows.

Purinas Rally In Ninth To Defeat Dairy, 2 to 1

Purina Chows scored two runs in the first half of the ninth inning Tuesday evening to defeat the Circle City dairy, 2-1. The dairy-men had led 1-0 since the fifth inning and seems well on their way to victory until things began to happen.

The dairy run came over in the fifth on successive singles by Baucher, Thompson, and Elliott.

Heiskell was out in the Purina half of the ninth when Dumm started the fireworks with a line single to right center. He went to second as Roby walked. Both moved up a base on a passed ball. At this point the game might have been ended as Creno drove a low liner to Thompson at short stop. Had the infielder held the ball he could have tossed to third base to double Dumm ending the fray, but the hard hit ball handcuffed him and fell safely the bases being filled.

ZEIMER, FOWLER DO IT

Zeimer scored Dumm with the tying run by singling through the box, the ball brushing off Pitcher Leasure's leg. Fowler, pitching for the Chows, won his own game driving Roby across the platter with a long fly to Ecard in left.

The dairymen came right back in the last half of the inning to threaten the one run lead. Mancini and Strawser were easy outs be-

About This And That

BY THE SECOND GUESSER

CONTAINER CORPORATION flashed a new pitcher at Stoutsville, Tuesday evening; it was A! Baker, tall left hander, who makes things hot in the league the rest of the year — The straw-boarders won 6-2, although Stoutsville's regular team did not play.

It's been reported that Manager R. E. Norris, of the C. C. of A. will give the McClarren Meats Ray Brungs, Don Brannon, Carl Thomas and Red Lawhorn for Rick Smalley, but it has not been settled yet—Smalley goes to the straw-board—regardless since he has started to work there; it is not law but it has been the custom to release players who can obtain work by going to another team.

With this the final week to transfer or release players every manager must positively file a complete list of his eligible players at a meeting next Monday evening—The league rule bars trades or releases from one team to another after the third week of the second half.

FRANK CASEY, FORMER local golf pro now at Wilmington, finished sixth in the Dayton open golf tournament played this week and won by Ralph Stonehouse, of Indianapolis—Casey carded 79-78-157 while the winner had a par card of 148 for the 36 holes—Red Strauss, Cincinnati, and Harry Boyer, also of there, were second and third.

We read that Ossie Solem, head football coach, has been named director of athletics at Indiana University, and that Lee Ramage again defeated Maxie Rosenbloom before 10,000—Rosenbloom's title was not at stake; it is the light heavyweight if you care to know—and we also find out that the straw-board is playing the United Woolen Mill team, of Columbus, Sunday starting at 1:30 p. m.—It may be a double-header.

Seek National Anthem

PEIPING—Lack of a national anthem for China is to be remedied at last. The government has approved the suggestion of the Minister of Education, Dr. Wang Shih-chieh that one be written. Hitherto, the song used on public occasions has been that of the Kuomintang Party. This was selected several years ago by public competition and it is expected that the national anthem will be found in the same manner.

HUBBELL FEAT 'STEALS' SHOW IN 'STAR' GAME

Fans American League Stars After Which Other Pitchers Are Mauld, 9-7.

By DAVIS J. WALSH
International News Service Sports Editor

NEW YORK, July 11.—They used to talk about the late Rube Waddell calling in his fielders and retiring to the side unaided, although as far as the major leagues were concerned this was sheer fiction, designed to entertain stunted adult minds. They still remember Matty's pitching up in Boston in that final game of the 1912 series just before and immediately after Merkle and Snodgrass put the finger on the great master. There was also the time that Alexander went in with a cold arm in the 1926 series to fan Lazzeri with three on for the final out. Not to mention countless cases of pinch-pitching that both clutter and adorn the records.

FIVE IN A ROW

But all seemed pale and insipid by contrast with Carl Hubbell's successive strikeouts of Ruth, Gehrig, Foxx, Simmons and Cronin in the first and second innings of yesterday's all-star major league game at the Polo grounds. It hardly mattered that the American league ultimately beat the National league out of a conical ball game, 9 to 7, for the second straight year. As a matter of fact, after Hubbell delivered his epic performance, nothing mattered. We had witnessed the historic. The rest was anti-climax.

Thumbing back through the pages of memory, I recalled Hod Eller's five straight strikeouts against the White Sox in 1919. But, then, some of them weren't trying and none had quite the class of the great trinity that strode to the plate with two on and none out yesterday and were blown down like wheat in a wind.

When Hubbell went, the ball game was over for the National league it had hit Gomez for four runs, including homers by Frisch and Medwick. But neither Lon Warneke, of Chicago, nor Van Mungo, of Brooklyn, had much more than a petition and the winners scored twice in the fourth and six times in the fifth to claim the victory almost beyond recall.

STARS BIG BUST

For an all-star game, it was a very silly thing, all told. Barring Hubbell, the advertised stars were a big, reverberating bust. Ruth just didn't figure at all. Gehrig fanned three times. Foxx got one legitimate single and a very spurious double in a high fly that fell safe at Klein's lagging feet in short left field.

Altogether, it was probably the worst exhibition of ineptitude and, in some cases, stupidity yet vouchsafed by the sterling athletes of the diamond. And with the crumbling of the advertised stars, Cleveland and St. Louis more or less stole the show.

Cleveland furnished Averill, who tripled in the fourth, scoring one, and doubled in the fifth, scoring two. Also Harder, who relieved Ruffing in the fifth and held the opposition to one hit the rest of the way.

As for the St. Louis pair, Frisch and Medwick hit the only home runs of the game. They also drove in four runs between them, in addition to which Frisch scored three and Medwick two. Outside of that, they were just, plain pitiful.

Hapsburgs Open Hotel

BAD GASTEIN, Austria.—Three old Hapsburg archduchesses, Gertrude, Agnes and Margarete, daughters of the late Grand Duke Ferdinand of Tuscany, have opened a hotel in the well known Austrian health-resort. The archduchesses will however, not wait on their guests. They appointed the former first chamberlain of the grand duke, Count Anton Spanochi, as general manager of their unusual enterprise.

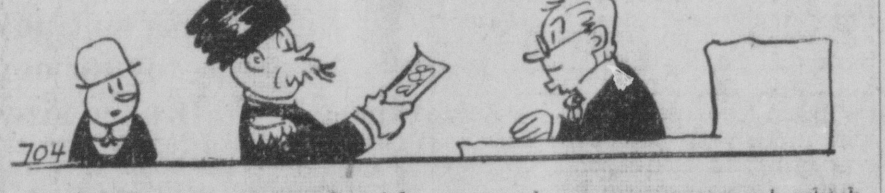

Laughing Around the World

Bringing in the Sheaves

By IRVIN S. COBB

THIS story may or may not be true in all its particulars, but in view of the drops in the currencies of certain European countries, which suffered heavily in the Great War and in the subsequent domestic and economic upheavals which followed the hostilities, I am inclined to think it at least has a plausible sound to it.

It is said that a Swiss hotel-keeper made an announcement which was calculated to bring him the patronage of refugee notables from other lands. He gave it out that, at current rates of exchange, he would accept money of any Continental nation in settlement of accounts. As a consequence, his establishment was at once filled up with distinguished exiles.

On a certain morning, so the story runs, an Austrian asked for his bill. He glanced at the figures, and then heaved a heavy suitcase upon the desk of the proprietor.

"You will find enough money in this bag to pay you," he said.

Next to come was a German nobleman. Upon learning the amount of his indebtedness he produced a yellow slip and put it into the hand of the Swiss.

"This," he said, "is the bill of lading for a carload of marks which arrived yesterday consigned to me. The car is now at the station. Go there and get as many bales as you need."

The third patron was a Russian prince. After a glance at his bill he drew from an inner pocket a flat, thin, heavy package which gave off a metallic sound as he deposited it upon the desk-top.

"What is this?" asked the Hotel-keeper.

"These," said the Russian, "are the engraver's plates. Kindly take them and print as many million-note rubles as may be required."

Why Headhunters Kill

The Dyak headhunter does not murder for the love of killing. He does it to gain possession of the dead man's soul, believed to exist in the head and hair. Gaining a head assures him of a servant when he reaches the Dyak heaven.

THE doctors often find out that there isn't any boil on a guy's liver when the patient acts funny and lazy. The poor sick man just is too lazy to work or he's discouraged or in love or something, and the doctor has a terrible time trying to think up pills that will cure him.

One guy was a great problem to the doctor. He was lying around, killing flies and telling how good he used to be. His wife called the doc, and there was months when the doctor sent him a prescription every week.

Finally the patient says to the doc, "Say, you know, I realize that what I need is something to make me mad, or something to make me get up and hustle. I just ain't got any ambition."

"I see," says the doc. "I'll send you something tomorrow."

And next day the doctor sent a bill for two hundred dollars, with a note on it saying, "Please pay this bill in thirty days or get yourself sued."

WHITE HITS G.O. CHIEF

ZANESVILLE, July 11.—Leaving in the Democrats of Muskumbe in his own congressional district a staunch defense of the Roosevelt recovery program and a reply to Republican National Chairman Fletcher's criticism of the "New Deal," Gov. George White returned to his home in Marietta today.

The governor went home to attend the funeral of his close friend and neighbor, Benjamin J. McKinney, founder of the Marietta Daily Times and a former state inspector.

OTHERS UNMENTIONED

White did not mention his two Democratic opponents for the U. S. senatorial nomination in his address before the Young Men's Democratic club here last night, but he beat one of them to the tape in the scramble to reply to the Fletcher charges.

Congressman Charles West, the New Deal candidate, announced several days ago he would lash back at Fletcher in Youngstown tomorrow night, stating that Ohio Democracy had selected him as the best fitted of the three Democratic senatorial aspirants to defend the national recovery program.

White's entire speech here was in reply to Fletcher. He questioned the "good faith" of the Republican chairman in accusing the Roosevelt administration of "taking the first steps to emasculate the constitution," referring to it as "an ugly charge evidently intended to alarm a people conceived by Mr. Fletcher to be timid."

FAMILIES HELPED

As to Fletcher's criticism of the enormous federal relief expenditures, the governor said "10 million fathers who have been enabled to feed their little ones; 38,863 families in Ohio who have been able to retain their homes; thousands of farmers who have been rescued from threatened penance; will answer all the counts in this indictment with stern resentment."

"The remainder of Chairman Fletcher's edict," White continued, "is a recognition of the soundness of the policies inaugurated by President Roosevelt, both from a governmental and legal standpoint."

"Behind his words is the apparent fear of the wrath of a serious people. There is prodding him the knowledge of what has been done for relief."

A GUY called up a lawyer and said he was fighting with his wife all the time and he guessed he would get a divorce. He made an appointment for two o'clock and when he marched in found that the lawyer was a pretty busy fellow because all the other folks wanted divorces, too. So the lawyer was not very sympathetic, but got right down to business, with a pad and a pencil.

As soon as the guy sat down the lawyer says, "Now, please tell me when did these here strained relations begin?"

"Well," says the guy, kind of sad, "I guess they began right away. It was her relations, mind you, that was so strained, and they started coming in on us the day of the wedding. We ain't got rid of them since, and they keep eating and straining on us more and more. But my relations are all right. They live in Australia."

HOW WOMEN CAN WIN MEN AND MEN WIN

The Favor of Other Men

Unless two pints of bile juice flow daily from your liver into your bowels, your food decays in your bowels. This poisons your whole body. Movements get hard and constipated. You get yellow, tongue, yellow skin, pimples, dull eyes, bad breath, bad taste, and disfigurement. You have become an ugly-looking, foul-smelling, sour-thinking person. You have lost your personal charm. Everybody wants to run from you.

But don't take salts, mineral waters, oils, laxative pills, laxative candies or chewing gums and expect them to get rid of this poison that destroys your personal charm. They can't do it, because they only move out the tail end of your bowels and that doesn't take away enough of the decayed poison. Cosmetics won't help at all.

Only a free flow of your bile juice will stop this decayed poison in your bowels. The one mild vegetable medicine which starts a free flow of your bile juice is Carter's Little Liver Pills. Only fine, mild vegetable extracts. If you would bring back your personal charm to win men, start taking Carter's Little Liver Pills according to directions today. Be at drug stores. Refuse "something just as good," for it may gripe, loosen teeth or scald rectum. Ask for Carter's Little Liver Pills by name and get what you ask for. © 1934, C.M. Co.

"FINAL THIS TIME," CLAIMS FIERY STAR

HOLLYWOOD, July 11.—Lupe says it's final this time. Johnny has gone into bachelor quarters.

But Hollywood won't believe it until the judge reads his decision. The absolutely final - final - definite parting of the ways for Lupe Velez, Mexico's gift to the screen, and Johnny Weissmuller, who graduated to stardom from a swimming tank, came today after more public separations between the pair than anyone can count.

"But this time there will be no 'kiss and make up,'" says Lupe, who announced she will file suit for divorce immediately.

"We simply can't make a go of it. I thought if I went away on a personal appearance tour it would give us a chance to get off one another's nerves. But Johnny followed me in an airplane and then, after talking it over, we decided our marriage couldn't last."

60 DROWN IN JAPAN

GEN. JOHNSON READY TO QUIT

Recommends Commission To Supplant Self As Administrator of NRA.

WASHINGTON, July 11.—President Roosevelt's Recovery administration was entering another stage today with Administrator Hugh S. Johnson preparing to relinquish his dictatorial reign over the NRA.

Johnson revealed that he had recommended a board or commission to supplant himself as chief director of the recovery program. At the same time the administrator said he would remain as a member of the board if "the President thinks he needs me," but expressed the wish to return to private life.

According to Johnson's revelations, the new set up for the guidance of the NRA probably will be announced by President Roosevelt upon his return from his Pacific trip about the first of August.

DR. FRANKLIN'S CAR BURNS IN TRAFFIC

An automobile belonging to Dr. L. T. Franklin of Chillicothe, was completely destroyed by fire about one mile north of South Bloomfield Monday.

Dr. Franklin was enroute to a meeting of the state medical board in Columbus when he discovered the blaze. He stopped the car and threw sand on the fire and later used two fire extinguishers secured from a passing truckman, but was unable to overcome the flames.

The car was a 1932 Hudson coupe and partially covered by insurance. With the aid of a passing motorist, the doctor hurried on into Columbus to attend the meeting.

A Valuable Work

THE North American Indians of the early days, although in an uncivilized state, possessed one advantage not enjoyed today even by the world's most highly civilized nations.

Most of the tribes spoke different languages, and there were few members of one tribe who could speak the language of another tribe. The various groups, nevertheless, had a common sign language with which practically all Indians from the Pacific to the Atlantic were familiar.

Major Hugh L. Scott at the time of his death was engaged in compiling a dictionary of this sign language. Through his long contact with the Indian, first as foe and later as friend, he understood the language probably better than any other white man. It was composed of symbols made with hand and finger movements. In view of ethnologists, it was the most remarkable system of communication ever employed by mankind.

The Smithsonian Institution, to the bureau of ethnology of which General Scott's unfinished work was turned over, has set its hand to the task of completing the dictionary. In order to do this it has brought to Washington Richard Sanderville, 70-year-old Blackfoot, who thoroughly understands the language and is one of the very few remaining Indians who do. The language was composed of at least 2,000 symbols. The dictionary, as begun by General Scott, will consist of 2,000 cards. Each of these will contain a work and its sign symbol.

Completion of the work will prove of inestimable value to American ethnology. In undertaking this, the Smithsonian Institution is performing a task the importance of which will grow with the years.

The powers must have equal air fleets, but can't two equal two as well as 2000 equals 2000?

Flight to Alaska

SPECULATION apropos the forthcoming mass flight of 10 fast army bombing planes from Washington to Alaska and return concerns the international aspect of the thing rather than its aeronautical purposes. The public will follow the flight in the newspapers and news reels with the usual interest but the conversation will deal mainly with what the war department is thinking of and what Japan and Russia will think about it.

It is a foregone conclusion that Japanese jingoes will interpret the flight as an open threat against Japan and another move on the part of Washington toward American supremacy on the Pacific. Everything Uncle Sam does anywhere on the Pacific has some ulterior military motive in the imagination of the Japs.

War department heads make no secret of the fact that the air armada will map routes, locate landing fields and otherwise give a thought to Alaskan defenses. Asia is not so far from Alaska that Uncle Sam leave his territory unprotected.

This year's naval and air maneuvers staged by Uncle Sam should have one of two results. Japan will either take the hint and join in disarmament plans or she will take fright and bankrupt herself with costly armaments.

The 10 U. S. air corps planes will demonstrate the facility with which Uncle Sam can speed protection to his Alaskan outposts at the first warning of danger. The corps has proved much more proficient in carrying bombs than in carrying mail.

With thousands of college graduates marching out into life, there seems no reason to fear a shortage of Brain Truststers.

The reason Americans believe in peace is because the old-timers grabbed enough territory while they were at it.

"THE LONE WOLF'S SON"

by LOUIS JOSEPH VANCE

SYNOPSIS

Aboard the S.S. "Navarre," bound for New York, Michael Lanyard, reformed "Lone Wolf" and underworld celebrity, is reunited with his son whom he thought dead. The boy, "Maurice Parry," has followed in the "Lone Wolf's" footsteps, but Lanyard hopes his son's interests in Fennio Crozier, lovely daughter of the wealthy Mrs. Fay Crozier, will prove a good influence. Maurice steals Mrs. Crozier's Habsburg emeralds. Lanyard retrieves them for Fay. Detective Crane warns Lanyard to watch out for the vengeance of "Jack Knife" Anderson and "English Archie," two gunmen whom Lanyard exposed for cheating Maurice at cards. Shortly afterwards, the gangsters steal Mrs. Crozier's emeralds and plant them in Lanyard's cabin. Maurice saves his father by substituting imitations and secretly placing the emeralds in the pursuer's care for Fay. Notwithstanding Lanyard's innocence, Detective Plon is suspicious of him. Later, when one of "Jack Knife's" accomplices tries to intimidate Lanyard into stealing the emeralds and splitting fifty-fifty with the gang, Maurice appears on the scene, masked. He knocks the gangster unconscious, planting a string of pearls stolen from the notorious gold-digger, Tess Boyce, in the thug's pocket. Tess, in gratitude to Maurice for catching the thief, gives a dinner in his honor. Lanyard disapproves of the society of Tess Boyce for his son, but Fennio asks him to leave Maurice to her. Discussing the Boyce robbery, Plon informs Lanyard that the prisoner swore Lanyard and Maurice planted the necklace on him. Later, Lanyard meets Tess and admires her courage in wearing her diamonds after last night's robbery, suggesting it might be safer to leave them with the pursuer. "Too much bother," Tess replies.

CHAPTER XXI

She broke off her statement to sign a denial to Maurice, who was waiting to ask her to dance. "No, thanks, my friend. I'd rather stay here and make up to your old man. Grab yourself an armful of Estelle there, and give it a whirl instead."

"There's no accounting for tastes, of course." The boy sketched an impish salute. "The loss, madame, is yours."

"Great kid," Tess Boyce drawled, watching him lead the other young woman away to the music. "And one dream of a dancer, if I'm any judge. Look how light he is on his dogs. . . . Funny thing about last night, . . . he hunked back: 'I wasn't asleep, really, just dozing; and all of a sudden I had a sort of feeling there was somebody else in the room, if you know what I mean; and I opened my eyes, and there was. He was stooping over my dressing-table, where I'd left a lot of this junk—too tired to put it away. Honest, I couldn't believe my eyes—it seemed so cheeky, I thought I must be dreaming. Only for a moment, though—only till he switched off the light-light. He must've sensed I'd waked up, I guess, though I hadn't stirred a finger or breathed hard or anything, because he didn't stop a second—just blacked that light out and took it on the lam. And then I cut loose."

"You were able to identify the prisoner, then?"

The eyes that widened to Lanyard's were almost too guileless. "If they hadn't caught him with the goods on, I'd never've believed it was the same fellow."

"I see; he darkened the room too quickly."

"Not so quick that I didn't get a snapshot of a man a head taller, anyway, than the yegg you and your son helped pinch. Putting out the light didn't make such a difference, you see—it was so dim and the moon so bright. I could see him like a silhouette, if you know what I mean, between me and the windows, as he dived for the door. I'd never have believed the gorilla they found my pearls on could have moved like that—silent as a shadow, sure-footed as a cat, and grave and full. I couldn't think of a thing but a panther."

"Yes," Lanyard nodded, without flinching from the stare of those wonder-struck eyes. "Only a few minutes ago, oddly enough, M. Plon and I were speaking of the unreliability of eyewitnesses, how excitement invariably colors and distorts the evidence of our senses at critical moments."

"Wouldn't it slay you? Why, if it hadn't turned out the way it did, if they'd left it to me to pick out the burglar out of a line-up of passengers, I'd have let my left leg it was that hopeful of yours, just going on the way he walks."

"Then he is fortunate indeed."

"I see what you mean." The woman of a sudden sloughed her show of naïveté; the wide eyes narrowed and gave out wicked glimmers; the wide mouth went into its

"Figure to yourself that I have every confidence in you. Make yourself at ease, my friend, and when the spirit moves you, more lucid."

"I only want to know what you know, if anything." Crane draped himself on the foot of the bed and tamped his pipe with a vague air which Lanyard took to screen keen observation. "About this kid of yours and the Boyce outfit: What's the idea of all this fuss they're makin' over him?"

"But you already know, I am sure, about the service Maurice did Madame—"

"Yeah, I heard about it. I'm just

"If they hadn't caught him with the goods on, I'd never've believed it was the same fellow," said Boyce.

wickedest twist. "Because he's the Lone Wolf's son."

"I'm afraid that would have counted against him, had Fate left it to you to identify the thief."

"Sure would. He just don't know his luck. I'm pretty easy-going, monsieur, if you know what I mean; but if I hadn't got that rope back! Why, they're just everything I've got to remember my last husband by, those pearls, and some fancy black-and-blue spots that are almost faded out already."

"The thin asetic lips of Mr. Isquith, a taciturn third party to the talk, writhed in mild anguish; and the Boyce, marking this, gave way to gusty mirth.

Lanyard seized the first excuse he could, with good grace, to withdraw his person as well as his mind from the party. And as soon as he was out of sight, Isquith leaned his prim mouth to the Boyce's ears.

"Nice work, kid," he breathed, "very, very pretty! The way you got the wind up the old fox was a treat. Keep it up, now, that's a good girl; don't let him forget a minute he's sitting on a powder-barrel and monkeying with matches; play him off against the punk—and we've got 'em where we want 'em, him and his whelp, right in the hollows of our little hot hands."

Smart knuckles on his stateroom door hailed Lanyard back, hours later, from the far horizon where walking consciousness dips under. Full-witted in a twinkling, he made a light, then sensibly demanded through the panels to know what was wanted. No name passed in response, but the nasal deliberation of the voice outside sounded authentic.

With no more hesitation he drew the bolt. A grin of apology wreathed the pipe in Crane's teeth as he entered.

"Don't hawl me out for ruinin' your night's rest," he begged, and re-shot the bolt himself as Lanyard went back to bed. "I just figured I'd better give you this buzz before the tip-off, if any. I may be wrong; but if I'm right, the less confabulation I and you do behind closed doors from now on, the better."

Shortness of Breath Sign Of Trouble

Called "Dyspnoea" It Is a Symptom of a Bodily Disorder

By ROYAL S. COPELAND, M. D.
United States senator from New York
Former Commissioner of Health,
New York City

WHILE WALKING up the steps of the Capitol building the other day, a companion requested that I slacken my pace. He was short of breath and was having great difficulty in climbing the steps. I questioned him about it. He replied that he had been a victim of shortness of breath for several years but never regarded it as a symptom of sufficient importance to carry to his physician.

Un fortunately, this is the attitude taken by many sufferers from this disturbance. Abnormal shortness of breath, or "dyspnoea," as it is known medically, is not really a disease, but it is a sign of some disorder within the body. As a rule, it is associated with some disturbance of the heart, lungs or blood system.

The sign should never be ignored and warrants a visit to the physician. Occasionally, it is associated with vague pains around the heart and swelling of the ankles. When these additional symptoms are present, delay in seeking medical advice is dangerous.

In what I have said, I do not mean to imply that shortness of breath always indicates some serious internal disorder. At times it may be a temporary condition which can be traced to highly emotional disturbances, fatigue, severe mental strain and worry.

Known as "Soldier's Heart"

Dyspnoea was commonly encountered during the World war. Many soldiers complained of shortness of breath and vague pains around the heart. This condition, known as "soldier's heart," was due to the severe strain under which those men were living.

As a rule there is difficulty in breathing after some exertion. There may be difficulty when starting to climb stairs, or when walking rapidly, or lifting heavy objects. At times there may be trouble about the breathing while lying down. The victim may require two or three pillows to prop him up before he is able to sleep. This extreme degree of shortness of breath is called "orthopnoea" and is usually a sign of advanced damage to the heart.

Difficulty in breathing may be due, too, to some nasal deformity or an obstruction in the nasal passages. Often the victim of dyspnoea avoids consulting with a physician for fear he may be told he has heart disease. My advice to all sufferers from the symptoms is to consult with a physician and make every effort to determine the underlying cause.

Even if the shortness of breath is not marked, if you tire easily and quickly upon the slightest exertion, I advise that you seek medical advice. Early recognition of any disturbances of this sort is of the most importance. It is the only means of preventing severe damage to the heart and other vital organs. Promptness prevents serious complications.

Answers to Health Queries

Mrs. A. T. Q.—Is "pink eye" apt to leave the eyes weak?

A.—Not if the condition has proper medical attention. Have your doctor advise you.

PATTERN 9070

Some people may not expect much of a slip . . . but they should! A slip has very definite things to do, and its business is to do them as perfectly as possible. As, for example, this slip does! It fits flawlessly . . . the cut does that! It goes on easily, just wraps around the figure, crosses in the back and fastens in the front. It is very easy to make and easy to iron, it is shadow proof, and has a pretty pointed neck in which you may insert a "modesty vest" if you are the sort of woman that takes stock in such things. Dainty in silk, Pattern 9070 may be ordered only in sizes 32, 34, 36, 38, 40, 42, 44 and 46. Elze 34 requires 3 1/2 yards 39 inch fabric.

locale, you have awaited its showing with considerable curiosity. Well—it's coming Thursday to the Cliftona Theatre, and what a triumph for the glamorous Gloria!

Smart, sophisticated, subtle, with a spice of humour and a touch of sadness—all the ingredients for a roaring success. Gloria herself shows all the ability and scintillating personality which has marked her former successes, and in addition she has developed to a marked degree the tenderness which was a feature of "The Trespasser." Make no doubt about it, Miss Gloria Swanson is still on top of the talkie world.

Hugh Johnson Wields Toothpick Instead of Big Stick in Cracking Down

WASHINGTON—Enforcement is still the overshadowing problem of the NRA.

At General Hugh Johnson's Code Authorities Congress last winter the predominant note was the general outcry against non-compliance, the failure of authorities to do anything about it.

In his desperate efforts to still this chorus of criticism Johnson has thrice overhauled the Blue Eagle's enforcement machinery. But to no avail.

Complaints are as numerous and widespread today as they were last February.

When NRA rulers are not denying the existence of these charges, they have an elaborate variety of explanations.

But the record of the Harriman-Hosley Mills case, lately in the headlines, affords ample evidence that the real trouble is lack of decisiveness. There is a lot of talk about "cracking down," but no action.

Toothpick waving and not big stick clubbing is the rule.

The Harriman company, which runs the little town of Harriman, Tenn., like a feudal barony, was months ago accused by the National Labor Board of violating the collective bargaining provisions of the NRA.

The specific charges were interference with attempts at unionization, plus discrimination against union workers. Some 300 of the latter lost their jobs because of union membership.

After months of mysterious dallying, Johnson finally "jerked" the company's Blue Eagle. It set up a great howl, and shut down its plant, throwing 650 employees out of work.

In the recriminations that followed the amazing fact came to light that Johnson far from being hard-boiled or drastic had been almost tender in his dealings with the company.

He had offered to return its "bird" if it would agree to reinstate only 50 of the 300 discharged strikers. The other 250 Johnson was willing to sacrifice in order to avoid a fight.

It was small wonder therefore that after this pussyfooting, when Attorney General Cummings announced he would not prosecute, the die-hard mill operators sat back and thumbed their noses.

Ruffling the Blue Eagle's feathers had proved about as dangerous as whistling to a canary.

Bad Hombre

Slender Mrs. Jim Landis believes in keeping family secrets.

Following the appointment of her serious-minded husband to the new Securities Exchange Commission, she was visited by a staff writer of a nationally known magazine. He explained that he was seeking "personality" material.

"You know, Mrs. Landis," he said, "up in Wall Street they speak of your husband in fear and trembling."

"Really?"

"Yes, indeed, he is bad medicine to those boys. What is there about him that should frighten them so?"

"Well," was the smiling reply, "if that is the way they think of Jim up there I certainly do not intend saying anything that would change their minds."

SON'S SLAYER FOUND GUILTY, FACES PRISON

Manslaughter Finding Returned Against Harley Stewart, Sam's Creek

TERM 1 TO 20 YEARS

Verdict Reached After 90 Minutes' Deliberation

BULLETIN
LOGAN, July 11.—Harley Stewart, who confessed to the slaying of his son, Carl, during an argument precipitated by the elder Stewart's shooting of a pet dog, today was sentenced to serve a one-to-20-year term in the Ohio penitentiary.

LOGAN, July 11.—Harley Stewart, confessed slayer of his son, Carl, today faced sentence to the Ohio penitentiary on a manslaughter charge after the jury at his second trial reached the compromise verdict after deliberating 90 minutes.

Stewart had been accused of second degree murder.

The son was shot and killed when the two quarreled after the father shot Carl's dog. Stewart had pleaded self defense.

WAS SECOND TRIAL
The jury at the man's first trial was unable to agree and was dismissed, necessitating the second court hearing. The slaying occurred May 21.

Sentence, one to 20 years, was expected to be pronounced after a motion for a new trial is heard.

Driver Facing Death Charge

A charge of manslaughter was filed in Justice W. W. DeWeese's court at Washington C. H. Tuesday against Harry Boggs, of 1213 Fairwood-ave., Columbus, driver of the car which struck and killed Herman Smith, New Holland farmer, last Friday.

The charge was filed by Mrs. Estella Smith, the deceased man's widow and a warrant for Boggs' arrest was issued at once.

WORKING ON CAR
Smith was working on his auto near the Bogus crossing, four miles east of New Holland, when he was struck. Boggs claimed that he stepped out into the path of his car.

Mrs. Smith and five children survive the victim of the accident.

Boggs was in New Holland, Monday, saying he came down to attend the funeral services which had been held on Sunday.

WHEAT PRICE LEAPS TODAY

Prospect of Smallest Crop In 41 Years Boosts Price By Five Cents.

CHICAGO, July 11.—Facing the prospect of the smallest wheat crop in 41 years, prices for futures on the Board of Trade today soared as much as five cents a bushel or the limit of fluctuation allowed for one day.

Broad buying coupled with the sensational bullish government report, wheat Sept. wheat to 93 5-8 and December wheat to 94 7-8. The general wheat list was 4 to 5 cents up. Other grains were sharply advanced, prices being from 1 1-8 to as much as 3 1-2 cents higher for corn.

'Sex' Change For Youths Turned Down By Parents

ST. CLAIRSVILLE, July 11.—Parents of Glen and John Deitrich, 16 and 17-year-old brothers, who are expected to die within a year because of a strange paralysis which strikes only male members of the family, today refused to allow their sons to become subjects of "sex change" experiments.

The suggestion had been made that the brothers be sterilized and then be inoculated with a serum that would develop female characteristics in the boys and perhaps prolong their lives.

TOOK FATHER
Glen and John, their bodies twisted into contorted shapes, are victims of a mysterious hereditary spinal paralysis that has claimed the lives of seven other members of the Deitrich family in the past three generations.

Because the disease strikes only male members of the family, the "sex change" experiments were suggested. Victims of the malady, in the past, always have died at the age of 18 years.

Many doctors have offered to treat the boys but a clinic of 50 famous surgeons once was unable to determine the cause of the disease nor check it.

AGAINST IDEAS
I appreciate the suggestions and help of the medical profession regarding my children," said Mrs. Deitrich, "but now they are about through with their suffering and I will let God handle the matter and not doctors who couldn't help them in their youth. Particularly am I against sex-change ideas."

'DEATH BEAM' IS PERFECTED

Inventor Says He Has Ray To Prevent War; Plans Instruction.

NEW YORK, July 11.—Nations surrounded by invisible beams of concentrated energy, capable of annihilating airplanes, armies and navies, and thus providing an impassable barrier against invasion.

This was the picture envisioned today following announcement of a new invention by Nikol Tesla, one of the world's outstanding inventors. Tesla gave a rough outline of his discovery here on the occasion of his 78th birthday, and expressed hope that it would make war impossible. He expects to submit it to the peace conference at Geneva.

Because huge power plants would be required to send out the invisible rays, Tesla said that his invention, a combination of four other inventions, could not be used for offensive warfare.

STUDENT HUNTED IN GIRL'S DEATH

NORMAN, Okla., July 11.—Neal Myers, an El Reno pharmacy student, was the object of a widespread search today by authorities sought to question him in connection with the mysterious death of Marion Mills, attractive 20-year-old University of Oklahoma coed and daughter of a university professor.

The youth disappeared after discovery of the girl's body in the home of Mrs. Hazel Brown, a fraternity house coed, to whom Myers had introduced the girl as his wife and requested that they be permitted to stay there overnight Monday.

The lack of marks or bruises on the girl's body, fully clothed when found, and failure of an autopsy to disclose the cause of death, baffled authorities.

"It looks like murder," said County Attorney Paul Updegraff, who ordered the autopsy.

Doris in Romance?

Society circles at eastern fashionable centers are buzzing with gossip about the romance of Doris Duke, 21-year-old heiress of the Duke tobacco fortune and reputedly the richest girl in the world, and H. R. (Jimmy) Cromwell, 37-year-old son of Mrs. Edward T. Stotesbury, one of the recognized leaders of American society. MISSISSIPPI VOTES TO RETAIN DRY LAW

JACKSON, Miss., July 11.—Mississippi, dry for 25 years and first of the states to ratify the 18th amendment, today upheld its tradition as a stronghold of prohibition.

First of southern states to submit the question to voters since national prohibition repeal, a blow to the wet cause was the apparent result as returns in yesterday's statewide referendum mounted.

Moslem Force Captures Swedish Explorer, Party

PEIPING, July 11.—Dr. Sven Hedin, noted Swedish explorer, and other members of his expedition into Chinese Turkestan, have been captured by the forces of the Moslem General Ma Chung Yang, according to reports reaching here today.

The explorers were captured east of Urumchi and are being carried toward the stronghold of General Ma.

The Hedin party is believed to include, besides the explorer himself, five Swedes, three Mongols, and three Chinese scientists. Harold Kierkegaard, a Danish postal commissioner, also is understood to be a member of the party and presumably was captured.

Dr. Hedin's expedition has been in Turkestan several months, seeking to be a member of the Danish postal service, who disappeared in the wilds of central Asia last November.

Although the immediate objective of the expedition was the search for Dr. Ambell, the Hedin party has been engaged for several years in scientific and commercial explorations in central Asia. One of these projects has been the exploration of the ancient "silk route," said to have been the longest caravan road in the world over which silk was freighted in ancient times from China to Rome.

Half Million Damage Reported in Tornado; Tom Mix Circus Hit

MAY NEED MILITIA

'Freak' Rain Storm Centers in Columbus

JACKSONVILLE, Ill., July 11.—A partial check-up early today revealed that more than 100 persons were injured, some seriously, by the tornado which raged through the city last night, causing more than $500,000 damage.

No fatalities were reported, but police, firemen and volunteers frantically into wreckage of homes to free persons possibly trapped in the debris.

The state hospital for the insane reported that all buildings had been damaged by the tornado wind before the telephone wires were whipped away by the gust. Early rescuers were unable to make their way to the institution and it was not known if any inmates had suffered injuries.

UPTOWN TORN UP

The storm struck about 10:30 last night, unroofing homes and buildings and uprooting trees. The center of the town was hardest hit and the public square was a shambles this morning.

All outgoing and incoming phone wires were swept away. Workers were busy clearing through the night when the town was thrown into darkness by the breaking of power lines. All current was then turned off to prevent the possible outbreak of fires.

Water mains burst, cutting off the city's water supply. Authorities plan to send Henry Horner to send staffs from Springfield, it was reported to guard against possible looting.

MIX CIRCUS HIT

Tents of the Sam B. Mix and Tom Mix circuses which were set up here, were blasted to ruins and much of the circus equipment was ruined. The loss was estimated at $50,000.

Streets are filled with debris, and impassable.

Rain and hail accompanied the gale, the hail stones smashing thousands of windows.

COLUMBUS, July 11.—A series of sharp thunder and lightning storms over central Ohio, one of them a freak "1,000 to 1" occurrence, today left one man dead and widespread property damage.

Homor D. McQuitt, a farmer, was killed by lightning as he stood with his employer, Raymond Mate, in a barn 10 miles from Loudon. Mate was stunned by the lightning bolt but revived to carry McQuitt's body into the farm house.

Two workmen near Mt. Sterling also were stunned when lightning struck near them while they sought refuge from the storm under a haystack.

The rain accompanying the lightning was so heavy that it stalled passenger trains and automobiles. At Columbus, more rain fell in a half hour period than at any previous time this year.

THEATER IS CLOSED BECAUSE OF DEATH

The Grand theatre will be closed Wednesday and Thursday on account of the death of James Baughman, brother of Walker Baughman, the show house proprietor.

It will be opened Friday at usual.

Purinas Rally In Ninth To Defeat Dairy, 2 to 1

Purinas scored two runs in the first half of the ninth inning Tuesday evening to defeat the City dairy, 2-1. The dairy had led 1-0 since the fifth inning and seems well on their way to victory until things began to happen.

The dairy run came over in the eighth on successive singles by Luther, Thompson, and Elliott. Heiskell was out in the Purina half of the ninth when Dumm started the fireworks with a line drive to right center. He went to second as Roby walked. Both runners up a base on a passed ball. At this point the game might have been ended as Greeno drove a low single to Thompson at short stop. The infielder held the ball he could have tossed to third base to double Dumm ending the fray, but the hard hit ball handcuffed him and fell safely the bases being filled.

ZEIMER, FOWLER DO IT

Zeimer scored Dumm with the tying run by singling through the box, the ball brushing off Pitcher Zeimer's leg. Fowler, pitching for the Chows, won his own game by driving Roby across the plate with a long fly to Eppard in left. The dairymen came right back in the last half of the inning to threaten the one run lead. Mancin and Strawser were easy outs before fore Eldridge walked. Butler smacked a single through the infield but Baucher ended the fray by popping to Pitcher Fowler. The game was well played and interesting. The Purinas gathered nine hits to five for the dairymen. Umpires were Dade and Lutz.

flashed a new pitcher at Stoutsville, Tuesday evening; it was Al Baker, tall left hander, who makes things hot in the league the rest of the year. The straw-boarders won 6-2, although Stoutsville's regular team did not play.

It's been reported that Manager R. E. Norris, of the C. C. of A. will give the McClarren Meats Ray Brungs, Don Brannon, Carl Thomas and Red Lawhorn for Rick Smalley, but it has not been settled yet. Smalley goes to the straw-board regardless since he has started to work there; it is not law but it has been the custom to release players who can obtain work by going to another team.

With this the final week to transfer or release players every manager must positively file a complete list of his eligible players at a meeting next Monday evening. The league rule bars trades or releases from one team to another after the third week of the second half.

Seek National Anthem

PEIPING—Lack of a national anthem for China is to be remedied at last. The government has approved the suggestion of the Minister of Education, Dr. Wang Shih-chieh that one be written. Hitherto, the song used on public occasions has been that of the Kuomintang Party. This was selected several years ago by public competition and it is expected that the national anthem will be found in the same manner.

STARS BIG BUST

For an all-star game, it was a very silly thing, all told. Barring Hubbell, the advertised stars were a big, reverberating bust. Ruth just didn't figure at all. Gehrig fanned three times. Fox, got one legitimate single and a very spurious double in a high fly that fell

HUBBELL FEAT 'STEALS' SHOW IN 'STAR' GAME

Fans American League Stars After Which Other Pitchers Are Mauld, 9-7.

By DAVIS J. WALSH
International News Service Sports Editor

NEW YORK, July 11.

They used to talk about the late Rube Waddell calling in his fielders and retiring to the side unaided, although as far as the major leagues were concerned this was sheer fiction, designed to entertain stunted adult minds. They still remember Matty's pitching up in Boston in that final game of the 1912 series just before and immediately after Merkle and Snodgrass put the finger on the great master. There was also the time that Alexander went in with a cold arm in the 1926 series to fan Lazzeri with three on for the final out. Not to mention countless cases of pinch-pitching that both clutter and adorn the records.

FIVE IN A ROW

But all seemed pale and insipid by contrast with Carl Hubbell's successive strikeouts of Ruth, Gehrig, Foss, Simmons and Cronin in the first and second innings of yesterday's all-star major league game at the Polo grounds. It hardly mattered that the American league ultimately beat the National league out of a comical ball game, 9 to 7, for the second straight year. As a matter of fact, after Hubbell delivered his epic performance, nothing mattered. We had witnessed the historic. The rest was anti-climax.

Thumbing back through the pages of memory, I recalled Hod Eller's five straight strikeouts against the White Sox in 1919. But, then, some of them weren't trying and none had quite the class of the great trinity that strode to the plate with two on and none out yesterday and were blown down like wheat in a wind.

When Hubbell went, the ball game was over for the National league. It had hit Gomez for four runs, including homers by Frisch and Medwick. But neither Lon Warneke, of Chicago, nor Van Mungo, of Brooklyn, had much more than a petition and the winners scored twice in the fourth and six times in the fifth to claim the victory almost beyond recall.

THIS story may or may not be true in all its particulars, but in view of the drops in the currencies of certain European countries, which suffered heavily in the Great War and in the subsequent domestic and economic upheavals which followed the hostilities, I am inclined to think it at least has a plausible sound to it.

On a certain morning, so the story runs, an Austrian asked for his bill. He glanced at the figures, and then heaved a heavy suitcase upon the desk of the proprietor.

"You will find enough money in this bag to pay you," he said.

Next to come was a German nobleman. Upon learning the amount of his indebtedness he produced a yellow slip and put it into the hand of the Swiss.

"This," he said, "is the bill of lading for a carload of marks which arrived yesterday consigned to me. The car is now at the station. Go there and get as many bales as you need."

The third patron was a Russian prince. After a glance at his bill he drew from an inner pocket a flat, thin, heavy package which gave off a metallic sound as he deposited it upon the desk-top.

"What is this?" asked the Hotel-keeper.

"These," said the Russian, "are the engraver's plates. Kindly take them and print as many million-ruble notes as may be required."

One guy was a great problem to the doctor. He was lying around, killing flies and telling how good he used to be. His wife called the doc, and there was months when the doctor sent him a prescription every week.

Finally the patient says to the doc, "Say, you know, I realize that what I need is something to make me mad, or something to make me get up and hustle. I just ain't got any ambition."

"I see," says the doc. "I'll send you something tomorrow."

And next day the doctor sent a bill for two hundred dollars, with a note on it saying, "Please pay this bill in thirty days or get yourself sued."

THE CIRCLEVILLE HERALD

WHITE HITS G.O.P. CHIEF

ZANESVILLE, July 11.—Leaving with the Democrats of Muskingum-co in his own congressional district a staunch defense of the Roosevelt recovery program and a reply to Republican National Chairman Fletcher's criticism of the "New Deal," Gov. George White returned to his home in Marietta today.

The governor went home to attend the funeral of his close friend and neighbor, Benjamin J. McKinney, founder of the Marietta Daily Times and a former state inspector.

OTHERS UNMENTIONED

White did not mention his two Democratic opponents for the U. S. senatorial nomination in his address before the Young Men's Democratic club here last night, but he beat one of them to the tape in the scramble to reply to the Fletcher charges.

Congressman Charles West, the New Deal candidate, announced several days ago he would lash back at Fletcher in Youngstown tomorrow night, stating that Ohio Democracy had selected him as the best fitted of the three Democratic senatorial aspirants to defend the national recovery program.

White's entire speech here was in reply to Fletcher. He questioned the "good faith" of the Republican chairman in accusing the Roosevelt administration of emasculating the constitution, referring to it as "an ugly charge evidently intended to alarm a people conceived by Mr. Fletcher to be timid."

FAMILIES HELPED

As to Fletcher's criticism of the enormous federal relief expenditures, the governor said "10 million fathers who have been enabled to feed their little ones; 38,863 families in Ohio who have been able to retain their homes; thousands of farmers who have been rescued from threatened penance, will answer all the counts in this indictment with stern resentment."

"The remainder of Chairman Fletcher's edict," White continued, "is a recognition of the soundness of the policies inaugurated by President Roosevelt, both from a governmental and legal standpoint. Behind his words is the apparent fear of the wrath of a serious people. There is prodding him the knowledge of what has been done for relief."

A GUY called up a lawyer and said he was fighting with his wife all the time and he guessed he would get a divorce. He made an appointment for two o'clock and when he marched in he found that the lawyer was pretty busy because all the other folks wanted divorces, too. So the lawyer was not very sympathetic, but got right down to business, with a pad and a pencil.

As soon as the guy sat down the lawyer says, "Now, please tell me when did these here strained relations begin?"

"Well," says the guy, kind of sad, "I guess they began right away. It was her relations, mind you, that was so strained, and they started coming in on us the day of the wedding. We ain't got rid of them since, and they keep eating and straining on us more and more. But my relations are all right. They live in Australia."

country after twelve days have passed without the public's learning any new details of the plot which cost the lives of an undetermined number of Germans and without any lists of the dead.

SECOND IMPORTANT

But of the two major facts the second is by far the more important. The French army's frontier reinforcements were precautionary measures and no sober observer believes France ready to attack Germany this moment. Barthou's seemingly successful diplomatic labors appear to Germany's leaders today much more dangerous.

For if Barthou succeeds with his plan, Germany will be bound hand and foot so thoroughly that in the eyes of France no preventative war will be necessary in order to render her harmless.

International News Service learned today that Barthou's complete plan consists of three parts, first a renewal of the old Locarno pact with the Soviet Union, as a new guarantor of Franco-German frontier.

The second is the proposed new "east" Locarno pact among France, the Soviet Union, Poland, Czechoslovakia, and the Baltic states with Germany too if she will enter it.

The third is the proposed "Mediterranean" Locarno among France, Italy, Czechoslovakia, Rumania, Greece and Turkey.
